

James E. Mountain, Jr.

Shareholder | Portland Office

Jim Mountain defends his clients against government regulation, sanctions, and assessments. His practice emphasizes appellate law and administrative, regulatory law.

Jim regularly defends licensed professionals—doctors, pharmacists, psychologists, architects, geologists, accountants, lawyers – and even judges in proceedings before their licensing boards or regulatory bodies and, particularly, in the appellate courts.

He frequently serves the firm's clients in the Supreme Courts and Courts of Appeal of the United States, the State of Oregon, and the State of Washington. He represents the clients' business, professional, and personal interests before the various administrative agencies and trial courts of the federal, state, and local governments.

Jim's practice often requires that he work closely with the client's general counsel or trial lawyer on appellate court matters. He has developed strong and long-lasting relationships with other lawyers. Jim regularly provides appellate consulting services to other lawyers and their clients, including assistance with their preparation of written briefs and oral arguments. Jim frequently serves as an expert witness regarding awards of attorney fees.

Background

Jim formerly served as the State of Oregon's chief appellate lawyer, its Solicitor General. He also held the number two job in the Oregon Department of Justice as the Deputy Attorney General with responsibility to manage one of the state's largest law firms. With over 40 years of experience, Jim has briefed and argued hundreds of cases before state and federal appellate courts. Jim is also intimately familiar with the administrative law and regulatory functions of the executive branches of state and federal government.

Career Highlights

In professional licensing and discipline matters, Jim is recognized by the Oregon appellate courts as a proponent of cutting edge administrative law and constitutional law issues. Jim's blend of administrative law and appellate expertise secured an award to his client of the amount of the attorney fees the client incurred in successfully defending against an administrative tax assessment. Jim's personally most satisfying appellate court victory was his securing a life-saving medical operation for a child over the parents' religious objections in expedited proceedings in the Oregon Court of Appeals and Supreme Court.

Representative Engagements

NOTABLE APPEALS

- Pfizer v. Oregon Department of Justice, 254 Or App 144, 294 P.3d 496 (2012). Worked with company's national and local counsel to obtain favorable ruling that pharmaceutical company records confidentially disclosed to State in trade practice litigation are exempt from public disclosure under the Oregon Public Records Law.
- Port of Portland v Center for Environmental Health, 238 Or App 404, 243 P.3d 102 (2010). On a matter of first impression in Oregon appellate courts, the Court of Appeals ruled that a public body's joint-defense agreement was exempt from disclosure under the Oregon Public Records law as a privileged record of an attorney-client communication.
- Coffey v. Board of Geology Examiners, 348 Or 494, 235 P.3d 678 (2010). Obtained Oregon Supreme Court review of regulatory agency revocation of professional license and the high court's re-examination of a prior decision arguably requiring administrative agency to publish criteria for imposing disciplinary sanction prior to enforcement of administrative code of conduct.
- Pacific States Marine Fisheries Commission v. Department of Revenue, 346 Or 117, 206 P.3d 1037 (2009). On appeal from Oregon Tax Court to Oregon Supreme Court, presented question of special legal status of a multistate compact agency, a regional governmental body authorized by Congress, in context of Oregon state statutes exempting public corporations from local property tax.
- Williams v. Philip Morris, Inc. 344 Or 45, 176 P.3d 1255 (2008). On remand from United States Supreme Court's decision reshaping federal constitutional law limiting awards of punitive damages, addressed issue of state appellate procedure and practice.
- Logan v. D.W. Sivers Co., 343 Or 339, 169 P.3d 1255 (2007), 207 Or App 231, 141 P.3d 589 (2006). On appeal to the Oregon Court of Appeals and on review by the Oregon Supreme Court the appellate courts recognized that a temporary exclusive dealing provision in an otherwise unenforceable letter of intent to purchase and sell commercial property stated a contractual promise that was breached by a sale of the property to a third party during the term of the exclusive dealing provision.

- Mims v. City of Eugene, 2005 WL 1865555 (9th Cir. 2005). On appeal to the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, the court confirmed reasonableness of City's riot control measures.
- Nobl Park, LLC of Vancouver v. Shell Oil Co., 122 Wash App 838, 95 P3d 1265 (2004), rev den, 154 Wash 2d 1027, 120 P3d 577 (2005). Represented construction company in successfully persuading Washington Supreme Court to let stand a Washington Court of Appeals decision to exclude economic damages in a construction defect claim from coverage under the Washington Products Liability Act.
- Permapost Products Co. v. Osmose Wood Preserving, Inc., 200 Or App 699, 116 P3d 909 (2005). Successfully defended manufacturer on appeal in products liability case applying the statute of limitations on an action for breach of an express warranty.
- Kaib's Roving R.Ph. Agency v. Employment Dept., 338 Or 433, 111 P3d 739 (2005). On review of a decision of the Court of Appeals, the Oregon Supreme Court ruled that under the Administrative Procedures Act, a reviewing court shall allow a business its attorney fees and costs if the court finds that a state agency "acted without a reasonable basis in fact or in law;" and contrary to the Court of Appeals' reading, the APA goes beyond merely allowing a court discretion to award fees but, instead, requires the court to award fees under the circumstances described.
- State of Oregon v. Bradly Morris Cunningham, Sr., (337 Or 528. 99 P3d 271 (2004). The Oregon Supreme Court reversed the Court of Appeals' reversal of Bradly Cunningham's conviction for murdering his wife, an attorney. The Oregon Supreme Court adopted the legal position that the State of Oregon presented for conviction, and that Harrang Long presented as a "friend of the court" on behalf of the victim's law firm. The high court concluded that the trial court correctly had admitted hearsay evidence under an exception to the hearsay rule, and upheld the conviction.
- Leahy v. City of Gladstone, 52 Fed Appx 10 (9th Cir 2002). Federal Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, May 2002. Obtained order vacating large money judgment against client city for alleged taking of property without due process and just compensation.
- Bocci v. Key Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 158 Or App 521, 974 P.2d 758 (1999). Settled on remand from United States Supreme Court in Key Pharmaceuticals, Inc. v. Edwards, 123 S.C. 1781 (April 21, 2003), a summary reversal of treating physician's judgment against pharmaceutical manufacturer for $22.5 million in punitive damages.
- Haupt v. Dillard, 17 F.3d 285 (9th Cir. 1994). Obtained reinstatement by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals of civil claim for damages for criminal defendant who had been acquitted of murder charges after having been deprived of a fair trial.
- Black v. Dept. of Human Resources, 301 Or 221, 721 P.2d 451 (1986) and Smith v. Dept. of Human Resources, 302 Or 209, 721 P.2d 445 (1986). Argued that neither the state Constitution nor federal Constitution religious guarantees required the payment of unemployment insurance benefits to an employee terminated for engaging in religious activity that was illegal under state criminal law; a holding that was affirmed by the United States Supreme Court in Employment Division v. Smith, 494 US 872 (1990).
- Salem College & Academy, Inc. v. Employment Division, 298 Or 471, 695 P.2d 25 (1985). Analyzed whether freedom of religion guarantees of Oregon Constitution barred assessment of unemployment taxes on religious schools.
- Planned Parenthood Ass'n, Inc. v. Dept of Human Resources, 297 Or 562, 687 P.2d 785 (1984). Assessed whether Equal Privileges and Immunities Clause of Oregon Constitution, article 1, section 20, barred administrative rule limiting reimbursement for abortions
- Bono v. SAIF, 298 Or 405, 692 P2d 606 (1984). As Solicitor General reasserted Attorney General's prerogative to represent State Accident Insurance Fund and to defend against claim for interim compensation by person not absent from work.
- City of Roseburg v. Roseburg City Firefighters, 292 Or 266, 639 P.2d 90 (1981). Defended Public Employees Collective Bargaining Act against constitutional challenge under municipal Home Rule provisions of the Oregon Constitution.
- Matter of Jensen, 54 Or. App. 1, 633 P.2d 1302 (1981). Secured a life saving operation for a child over the religiously based objections of her parents on expedited appellate schedule from trial though the Court of Appeals to denial of review by the Oregon Supreme Court.
